

NOOR AZIZAN RAHMAN PAIMAN a.k.a PAIMAN (B.1970)

Based in Seri Manjung in Perak, Malaysia, he received a BA in Fine Art from Universiti Teknologi MARA (UiTM) in 1995 and a MA in Fine Art from Manchester Metropolitan University, United Kingdom, in 2001. Paiman's art plays with social mores, politics, gender issues, and current events with a focus on Malaysian contemporary life. His artworks are inspired by the rapid, intense industrial changes that Malaysia has undergone over the years. He calls himself 'a back-dated reporter'. His works have been exhibited at the 1st Fukuoka Asian Art Triennial (1999), 5th Asia-Pacific Triennial of Contemporary Art (2006), and the 5th Singapore Biennale (2016) and most recently, at the Venice Biennale (2022).

In 'A Paradigm Shift - Relecting on Twenty Years of The Malaysian Art Scene', Paiman's 'Supreme Council Clamped' is dedicated to the victims of power play since (1981-1999). In the world of politics, the person who wants to wield power must also know how to control his/ her followers.
