

Faizal Suhif

b. 1984

Faizal Suhif finds beauty in the raw 'ugliness' of his materials. He uses blocks of wood, concrete slabs and other 'found' objects. He 'hunts' for his images in the surfaces he prepares for his printmaking. In the 'hunting' he uncovers and discovers images that are meditations on the future of threatened wildlife in ever vanishing habitats.

Linda Nordin

Linda Nordin has used Motion Art in the form of lenticular/holograms, in the style of billboards to express her present experience of surviving as a post-grad student in a foreign land. Her works have the feeling of Public Art and she uses her environment as the background and symbols of her thoughts. The text is superimposed over the images and are seen as fleeting thoughts that come and go.

Rozana Musa

b. 1982

Rozana Musa is addressing the universal and timeless issue of dietary obsession. This includes temptation, guilt and female neuroses. Ceramics, her art, is taken to another level of imaginative creativity resulting in witty, light-hearted pieces describing a serious, dark subject.

Yim Yen Sum

b. 1987

Yim Sum's installations are inspired by old buildings and architectural details like windows and brickwork. Their ancient permanence and invincibility drew out a sense of the paradox from her. The soft sculptures, instead, evoke the fragility of existence, impermanence and the human need of a safe haven.
